PROTECT OUR PRECIOUS PETS

By Aria

During the Ekka, the RSPCA mobile unit is outside the Old Museum Building showing people how to look after their pets.

"To be a responsible pet owner encompasses lots of things including making sure you're taking physical care of your pets, as well as mental care of your pets," Daryl Joy, a worker with the RSPCA, said.

One of the main issues is that people are leaving their pets in hot cars. This can be dangerous for them.

"It's [keeping a pet] a big responsibility. They're a living thing, they have feelings just like we do."

The RSPCA also helps by rescuing injured native animals. To report injured animals, phone 1300 animal.
