A GRAND TRADITION

By Georgia

On Wednesday 10 August, the Grand Parade, showcasing some of the champions of the Ekka, was held in the Main Arena.

The parade is an important tradition of the Show and has been held since the first show in 1876.

Champion livestock and horses make up the major part of the parade, which also includes winners in other small animal competitions, such as dogs, cats and fish. The Flower Beard competitors were also present.

Show Camp students assisted in the parade by carrying breed signs for the different types of cattle and goats. Some Show Campers said they were excited and nervous, but had a lot of fun once they were out in the arena.

The Grand Parade is a traditional part of the show and provides an opportunity to celebrate the city's link with the country.
